The Quadrant Knowledge Solutions KYC SPARK Matrix™ report noted, “NICE Actimize CDD-X and X-Sight Onboard offers comprehensive identity verification by integrating with various industry point solutions and existing IDV providers, providing users with a multi-modal view of an applicant’s identity risk. Using advanced machine learning models, the solution assesses a wide range of risk attributes across different identity modalities to distinguish legitimate customers from potentially risky elements like stolen or synthetic identities.”

“Key differentiating factors for the NICE Actimize KYC solutions suite encompass advanced risk assessment capabilities. This includes Entity Centric Risk profiling and scoring, which offers a comprehensive view of entities while considering transaction and screening risks,” said Siddharth Arya, Analyst, Quadrant Knowledge Solutions. “By emphasizing an extensive partner ecosystem, dedicated R&D investment, continuous growth strategy, and in-house expertise, NICE Actimize ensures a comprehensive and innovative suite of solutions tailored to meet evolving market needs and regulatory requirements.”

The Quadrant Knowledge Solutions SPARK Matrix report also stated, “Additionally, CDD-X employs comprehensive Network Analytics, utilizing a graph database to visualize relationship networks between direct and indirect parties, enhancing risk assessment capabilities. The graph database synchronizes with Actimize data sources, allowing for the storage and management of discovered connections. This enables users to navigate networks and identify high-risk relationships or suspicious network activity efficiently, enhancing the speed and accuracy of risk assessments.”

“NICE Actimize’s AI-powered KYC/CDD solutions and its X-Sight Onboard capabilities address some of financial institutions greatest challenges,” said Craig Costigan, CEO, NICE Actimize. “Our risk-based approach to CDD enables the FI to take a continuous approach to managing risk throughout the customer life cycle to make confident and informed decisions.”

The Quadrant Knowledge Solutions report concluded, “NICE Actimize’s CDD-X platform offers users sophisticated risk scoring capabilities allowing users to define precise risk segments for customers, enhancing accuracy in risk scoring by applying different weights to different customer segments. The solution provides a comprehensive risk assessment framework with multiple predefined industry-standard risk factors, including account type, geographic location, behavioral trends, and more.”
